

Welding is our passion – is it yours too? Then apply now!

We are a medium-sized family business that operates worldwide. As the leading German manufacturer of arc welding machines for professional use in trade and industry, we have experienced above-average growth in recent years. Welding accessories, welding consumables, welding torches, automation and mechanisation components and an extensive range of consulting services round off our portfolio.

We want to expand our Mündersbach team and are looking for an

■ Application engineer (m/f) working as an Area Sales Manager (m/f) to support sales activities

Country focus: Scandinavia

Your responsibilities

- Supporting a well-functioning network of dealers
- Independently preparing, planning and carrying out customer visits
- Supporting and advising our customers with regard to technical welding applications
- Performing welding tests and sample welds at customers' premises
- Demonstrating and selling welding machines, welding consumables and accessories

We offer

- Secure employment with long-term prospects in an expanding company
- Collaborative work in a highly motivated, dynamic team
- Performance-related pay
- Subsidised company pension scheme
- Company health care scheme

Your profile

- Successfully completed technical qualification in a metal-working profession
- Good knowledge of English and Finnish/Swedish
- Practical experience in all common welding procedures
- Experience in consultation and in sales of products that require explanation
- Additional welding expert qualification or valid welding certificates (desirable)
- Willingness to travel within the country and abroad

Are you interested?

Please send your application and complete supporting documents stating the reference number

VTB-3118 to our HR department. For more information on the company, visit us at www.ewm-group.com