EWM honours long-standing employees

They have been part of the EWM family for 10, 20, 25 and even 30 years: 28 employees celebrate their workplace anniversaries at Germany's largest welding machine manufacturer headquartered in Mündersbach. The family-run company has a tradition of long-standing employees. More than half of our employees have been at the company for well over ten years, says Angelika Szczesny-Kluge, Member of the EWM Executive Board for HR.

“In large companies, you're just a number – but EWM is a like a big family”, explains Franz Schmidt. Like Jürgen Pfeiffer and Mario Pfeiffer, Schmidt has been part of the EWM team for 30 years. Holger Klett and Peter Schönberger have been contributing to the company's success for a quarter of a century. Winfried Hahmann, Stefan Giebl, Nils Bajohr, Linda Altgeld, Thorsten Erdnütz, Jutta Petersdorf, Willi Wiens and Nicole Löhr have had a positive influence on the welding machine manufacturer for two decades. Jörg Kaulbach, Olaf Brandstädter, Evelin Lange, Claudia Feierabend, Erdogan Sari, Volker Simon, Veronika Klein, Larissa Dürksen, Kai Neuer, Frank Hoffmann, Peter Willamowski, Erika Platt, Johannes Rosbach, Jürgen Schneider and Hans-Peter Mandler are celebrating ten years with EWM.

Thank you for your expertise and competence

Angelika Szczesny-Kluge thanked all the employees: “We are very happy that you have supported us with your expertise and competence for so long!” It is great to know that there are so many loyal employees at EWM, especially during these times of specialist staff shortages.

She also emphasised that loyalty and appreciation are mutual. This is why the welding machine manufacturer is committed to taking care of its employees. From apprenticeships in a wide range of professions, help in finding accommodation if they move to another site, to contributions for gym memberships and support packages for parents, the company supports its employees in many aspects of their daily lives. Plus, there are also numerous career opportunities worldwide in a future-proof and innovative industry.

“It all contributes to the fact that often multiple generations of the same family work for us, and many for decades”, noted Angelika Szczesny-Kluge.
